

Shortest-path first action of a loaded agent (BFS; loaded agents cannot enter shelf cells). A learned left-goal and right-goal agent should answer these probes differently if condition (a) holds; with zero memory and the goal out of view, the only cue is the agent's absolute position and what it has learned about its own goal side.